Seduction Psychology: Body Language & Lie Detection Master Class Seventy Seven

It's true...while nobody likes to be called a liar, the reality is we all lie!

We are taught to lie by the very people who end up being most offended by the practice. Our parents tell us to "wipe that expression off our face" when we turn our nose up at food we don't like - they would apparently prefer us to pretend we do like it rather than admit the truth. Occasionally, we're told to use a different tone of voice - a nice one, that doesn't reflect how we really feel.

This is how we begin to learn that sometimes a lie can benefit us in the short term. As such, the ability to lie becomes an important part of our communication toolbox. What we are not taught is how to detect a lie - possibly the most powerful skill you can have.

As part of the Seduction Enigma Dating Psychology series, human behavior expert and renowned pickup artist Seventy Seven reveals the lie detection secrets of the FBI and behavioral analysis unit. Using these little known skills, you too can become a master of unlocking the truth behind another person's story.

The difference between the average pickup artist and the masters is all about understanding what makes people tick. The knowledge in this book will have practical applications in all areas of your life, but especially to your dating.

You'll discover:

- How to spot attraction signals a mile off
- What she is really thinking and why
- Advanced dating and relationships indicators
- How she "feels" about you in less than a second
- If she really has a boyfriend or if it's a test
- And much more
