The 1961 U.S. World Figure Skating Team represented the future of U.S. figure skating. The thirty-four member delegation, comprised of eighteen award-winning skaters, six celebrated coaches, four long-serving officials, and six supportive family members, demonstrated the strength and diversity of the United States skating community at the dawn of John F. Kennedy's presidency. Team members hailed from metropolitan areas from coast-to-coast: Seattle, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Colorado Springs, Kansas City, St. Louis, Indianapolis, Minneapolis, Detroit, Washington, D.C., New York City, and Boston. The figure skating achievements of the 1961 World Team delegation were numerous: six were Olympians, nine had been national senior champions, sixteen had been national junior champions, and half had already been on a World Team. We can only imagine what future milestones they would have achieved at the 1964 Olympic Winter Games in Innsbruck, Austria. Their untimely death at the Zaventem Brussels Airport on February 15, 1961, devastated the skating community and shattered the backbone of U.S. Figure Skating. The greatest tragedy, however, was the loss of treasured friends who could never be replaced. In Indelible Images, their stories and careers come to life in hundreds of rarely seen photographs shared by loving family and friends. Through this lens we learn what unique individuals they were, how they were role models for all who surrounded them, and how they have continued to inspire the U.S. figure skating community over the past five decades. The 1961 World Team will continue to inspire future generations through U.S. Figure Skating's Memorial Fund, created in their honor. This book is a fifty-year-old valentine to the 1961 World Team.
